Kilauea's Turn Will Come
Strange Things Men Do
Ford Fears Golf
One Modern Killing

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

KILAUEA, Hawaii, biggest [illegible] volcano in eruption [illegible] flames 850 feet [illegible] 1,500 feet across.

In ancient days the natives [illegible] in horror at these eruptions [illegible] particular god had [illegible] and who, if anybody [illegible] be sacrificed to please that [illegible].

[illegible] once upon a time inhabitants [illegible] this earth looked up from under shaggy eyebrows in superstitious terror at the flashing [illegible].

Now they have that lightning busy running vacuum cleaner, washing machine and electric fans.

Some day every volcano will be [illegible] to work, its fury transformed to [illegible].

The Italians are doing it already [illegible] a small scale.

In years to come, before Kilauea [illegible] out its gigantic volcanic heat [illegible] be transformed into power [illegible] by wireless to airplanes flying [illegible] on their way across the Pacific.

We living may not see that, but [illegible] will see it.

Who can predict in this strange [illegible] what will happen? What unexpected things men will do. In [illegible] four bandits were sentenced [illegible] The hangman lost his nerve [illegible] go on with his work. [illegible] that was to die next put the [illegible] on his own neck, touched the [illegible] went through the trap and [illegible] killed. Is that the height of [illegible] courage or cowardice?

HENRY FORD, at work with Thomas A. Edison on auto machinery for manufacturing [illegible] parts [illegible] the automobile [illegible] is cheerful and he is turning out 7,000 cars a day.

He uses 500 men to make $10,000 [illegible] automobile parts a day, and hopes to [illegible] the number.

Ford [illegible] hopes that Lindbergh will [illegible] flying, and [illegible] round, but Lindbergh smiles and [illegible] off for a trip from the Atlantic [illegible] the Pacific, inspecting Indian [illegible] for the [illegible] of the Panama air [illegible] some [illegible] abroad.

Ford says golf is causing more [illegible] trouble than any other one thing.

Wall Street thinks that 12 per cent [illegible] is worse than golf.

Mr. Ford thinks Americans are [illegible] well educated to participate in an [illegible] war.

Archimedes was quite well educated. Ford would have liked him [illegible] his wonderful inventions, as [illegible] he likes Edison. But when [illegible] war and soldiers came along [illegible] did not save Archimedes from [illegible] knocked on the head.

MEN kill cold-bloodedly in our bandit-bootleg prohibition age.

Bernard Levine, undersized 19 years old, was sitting with friends in [illegible] Pleasant Restaurant in New York City at 2 in the morning when [illegible] stranger said "Come on outside, I want to talk to you." Outside a cab [illegible] waiting, the stranger said "We are going to take you for a ride."

The doomed youth, who knew what [illegible] meant, pleaded, "For God's sake, give me a chance, I am only a kid." [illegible] someone inside the cab laughed and [illegible] the order, "Give him the works, [illegible] damned little brat." In a moment Levine was writhing on the sidewalk, a bullet in his spine. [illegible] was soon dead.

The police say Isidore Sinoff arrested in hiding confessed the murder. His brother Edward drove the taxi.

Unless they get a good lawyer [illegible] may be punished.

PRESIDENT John Quincy Adams and John Adams, both Presidents of the United States, would read this paragraph with interest.

Charles Francis Adams of Boston, great grandson of John Quincy Adams [illegible] Mr. Hoover's Secretary of the Navy, so says Washington.

It would interest those old presidents also to see the kind of navy that their descendant will manage for Mr. Hoover.

They would be surprised to see [illegible] floating forts of steel [illegible] submarines under the water [illegible] machines flying in the air above [illegible].

ASKS RETURN OF PARK LAND DEEDED TO CITY

H. L. Uncapher Sues To Regain Possession of 2-Acre Tract

NEGLECT ALLEGED

Says City Fails To Care for Plot as Stipulated in Deed

A two-acre tract of park land in Oakland Heights will be taken from the city and restored to the original owner if the common pleas court upholds an action started yesterday afternoon by Hiram L. Uncapher.

According to the petition Uncapher deeded the city a two-acre tract on April 28, 1914. The land was to be used for park purposes only, the petition states. The deed in which the land was transferred to the city requested that the city beautify the tract. The deed bore a clause, the petition states, which provided that if this was not done the land was to revert to the original owner.

Neglect Alleged

For more than 15 years Uncapher claims in his petition the city has done nothing toward keeping the tract in good condition. The plaintiff alleges that weeds have been allowed to grow on the land and that nothing has been done to give it a park-like appearance.

The plaintiff [illegible] that the city has not fulfilled its part of the contract by which the land was deeded [illegible] the [illegible] allow the tract to revert to the [illegible] owner.

The two-acre tract is bounded on the north by [illegible] on the [illegible] by [illegible] and on the west by [illegible] Attorney J. H. [illegible] represents the plaintiff.

DENIAL OF CHARGES MADE BY STEWART

Says He Never Had Anything To Do with Teapot Dome Leases

CHICAGO, Feb. 21—"I never had anything to do with Teapot Dome leases."

Prodded at last to a formal denial of the charges brought against him by John D. Rockefeller Jr., who is seeking to oust him as chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, that was Col. Robert W. Stewart's reply to Rockefeller today.

Colonel Stewart's denials are contained in an open letter to the stockholders of the company.

"It is distressing to one's sensibilities," the first paragraph of the letter reads, "to feel constrained to reply to such statements as have been published by Mr. Winthrop W. Aldrich and Mr. Ivy Lee, press agent for Mr. John D. Rockefeller Jr., for more than a year. Our company and myself have been libeled and pursued by a certain type of political self-seeker and certain newspapers which either had reasons of their own for their attitude or were too indolent to ascertain the truth."

MARION WOMAN ON STATE BOARD

Governor Appoints Mrs. W. N. Harder on Department of Advisory Service

Mrs. W. N. Harder, [illegible] Church st., was named today by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper as a member of the advisory board of the state division of fish and game, according to word received here. The governor's office also announced the appointment of Joseph Pflueger of Akron, well known sportsman and maker of fishing tackle, to the same board.

The task of the board of which Mrs. Harder has been made a member will be to work out a comprehensive program of conservation, fish and game conservation, bird refuges, reforestation and other allied subjects, which will come under the supervision of the board.

The board is authorized by law and members are [illegible] appointment of the governor. Members are chosen from various groups [illegible] interested [illegible].

95 RAILROAD SUPERVISORS CONVENE HERE

Hocking Valley Foremen and Division Heads Confer at Hotel Harding

Approximately 95 foremen and supervisors of the Hocking Valley railroad were in Marion today for an all-day maintenance of way get-together meeting held at Hotel Harding. [illegible] supervisor of safety on the Hocking Valley, was in charge of the proceedings.

The meeting opened at 11 o'clock with an address, "Safety on the Track," by the chairman, Mr. Cott. This was followed by a short talk by J. W. Vogel, who talked on "Causes and Prevention of Accidents Due to [illegible]." A round table talk on tools followed Mr. Vogel's talk, after which C. R. Drum talked on "Flagging by Section Men."

Afternoon Program

A luncheon was served in the hotel from 12:15 until 1 o'clock, when the guests were addressed by W. L. Roller, who talked on "What We Owe Our Men." This was followed by a talk by [illegible] A. Sparks, supervisor of the Marion district. Mr. Sparks talked on "Motor Cars—Care and Operation." A general discussion on motor cars followed Mr. Sparks' talk.

The remainder of the afternoon program was as follows: "Automatic Blocks," by [illegible]; "[illegible] Ballast," [illegible] Snouffer; "[illegible] Programming and [illegible]," [illegible]; "Yard Maintenance and Its Relation to Safety," by F. [illegible]; and "Preventing [illegible] Over Accidents," by [illegible].

Group Photographed

A photograph of those present was taken at the close of the meeting.

All of the speakers on the program are from the [illegible] headquarters [illegible] Columbus with the exception of Mr. Snouffer, Mr. Dirnberger and Mr. Sparks. Mr. Snouffer is from Fostoria, Mr. Dirnberger is the supervisor at Walbridge and Mr. Sparks is from Marion.

TUMULTUOUS DEATH OF CONGRESS SEEN

Threats of Filibuster Against Administration's Program Heard

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Threats of filibusters against the administration's legislative program, stiff opposition to the confirmation of presidential appointments and a growing enmity between the house and senate today portended a tumultuous death for the seventieth congress with only nine legislative days remaining before adjournment.

Although congress overwhelmingly authorized an increase of 15 fast cruisers and a giant aircraft carrier to the American navy, a battle loomed in the senate against the navy appropriation bill carrying funds for the construction program. Consideration of the bill has been blocked on two occasions and administration leaders may be forced to abandon temporarily their preferential program in order to enact the naval money bill.

An effort to limit debate on the Edge resolution, providing a survey of the proposed Nicaraguan canal, also was blocked. The resolution was before the senate again today but there appeared little likelihood of a vote even though an overwhelming majority favors its enactment.

APPELLATE COURT TO CONVENE HERE

District Judges Coming Feb. 28 To Hear Marion County Cases

The [illegible] court of appeals will [illegible] appeal cases from the Marion county common pleas court on Feb. 28, according to word received by court officials here today. The court will have only three cases to consider when it comes here. Two will be error cases. The other will be an appeal case.

The appeal is the [illegible] ditch extension case. The other cases are state industrial commission against Williams Harruff and the First National Bank of Napoleon against Myrtle E. Schiller.

This will be the first appearance of the court here since Kent Hughes of Lima was named presiding judge of the tribunal. Other members are Charles E. Justice of Marion and Phil M. Crow of Kenton, who recently began his fourth term as a member of the court.

BYRD FINDS MUCH NEW LAND FOR U. S.

Second Antarctic Mountain Range Included in Discoveries

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—The New York Times, St. Louis Post-Dispatch and associated newspapers announced today that Commander Richard E. Byrd has made another extended flight with two planes over the Antarctic in which he discovered and mapped much new territory.

The flight was made Monday. Commander Byrd claimed the newly found land in the name of the United States and named it after his wife, Marie Byrd Land.

A second Antarctic mountain range was [illegible] in the discoveries. Commander Byrd reported sight of the range previously charted and called Rockefeller range. Peaks from 2,000 to 11,000 feet high were [illegible].

Marie Byrd Land lies between the Ross sea and Graham land. It appears from the air to be a larger territory than the Ross dependency claimed by Great Britain.

THREE MEN ARE KILLED AT TRACTION CROSSING

ELLERTON, Feb. 21—Slippery rails due to the heavy snowfall were [illegible] held responsible for the death of three Virginia men at a crossing near here late yesterday.

Old man winter [illegible] blowing on his [illegible] east [illegible] practically the entire region east of the Rocky mountains.

A cold wave swept from the Louisiana coast within the past 24 hours and moved farther east as far as Maine, according to James H. Scarr, [illegible].

It carried a blanket of snow on its back which covered all of southern New England, all of New York State except the northeastern portion, [illegible] Pennsylvania, West Virginia and the mountain sections of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky.

Storm warnings were displayed from Atlantic City to Eastport, Me., and northeast gales were predicted from Sandy Hook east this afternoon and tonight.

Coming From Canada

Meanwhile another ice wave was crackling down from Canada through the Missouri valley and was due to reach Minnesota today.

In North Dakota the thermometer registered 10 degrees below zero.

In Canada north of the Dakotas it was 30 degrees below zero.

It was the heaviest snowfall of the season along most of the North Atlantic states. There were 11 inches of snow in Harrisburgh, Pa., and 1 inch of snow in Nashville, Tenn.

From five to 10 inches of snow according to the drift was recorded in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Western Maryland, West Virginia and Tennessee.

While the snow was due to cease this afternoon or tonight, [illegible] weather was in order as a further

COLDER WEATHER DOWN FOR FRIDAY

End of Winter Wave Not In Sight, According to Official Forecast

No relief is in sight for the sudden cold snap which hit Marion Tuesday night. The weather report received this morning for Marion and vicinity states that Friday will be cloudy and slightly colder.

Although the temperature last night was a great deal warmer than Tuesday night it was still cold enough to keep most citizens indoors [illegible]. The lowest recorded last night was 11 above zero as compared with four below the night before.

The warmest temperature recorded yesterday was 24 degrees. One year ago the warmest was 40 degrees and the coldest four degrees above zero.

Despite the zero and subzero weather very few additional cases have been reported to the poor relief, Red Cross and Salvation Army offices.

Old time citizens of Marion say that the present month is one of the worst they have witnessed in many years.

Though police absolved him in both cases the conclusion that Blum is hard on pedestrians is not far amiss.

FIGHTS FOR DEAD GANGSTER'S ESTATE

Less than 24 hours after Pete Gusenberg, Chicago gangland massacre victim, had been buried, his alleged wife, Mrs. Myrtle Gorman, above, went into consultation with her attorneys in regard to obtaining his estate of $100,000 cash. Another woman also claims to have been Gusenberg's wife.

Haas is Given Clean Slate and Granted License by State Real Estate Board

Mulvaine Gets Permission To Continue In Business, but Will Appear Before Board Again; Compromise Settlement Effected at Hearing Held Here Yesterday

A compromise reached shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon successfully ended the fight staged by Earl R. Haas, local real estate broker, to force the state real estate licensing board to grant him a license to engage in realty transactions as a broker.

More than a month ago the board refused to license Haas and E. H. Mulvaine, his salesman, after a hearing on a complaint filed against them by Harry Lewis of Lewis, Ia.

Haas was given a clear slate by the board yesterday after the compromise had been reached. His license was restored. Mulvaine was given permission by the board to continue in business but will be called before the board on other matters in which Haas is not involved. Mulvaine was advised that the board would request his presence at a hearing in Columbus later at the close of the hearing here yesterday.

The charges against Haas and Mulvaine grew out of a real estate transaction in which they acted as agents between Lewis and Webster P. Denman [illegible] Spencer st. In the deal Lewis and Denman were to exchange properties.

Denman valued his Spencer st. property at $5,000. Lewis valued the Iowa property at $4,500. The Spencer st. property was encumbered by a $1,600 mortgage, leaving Denman an equity of $3,700 in it.

The first contract drawn for the exchange arranged for a payment of $2,000 by Lewis to Denman provided the loan could be placed on the Lewis property. The contract was to be void in case this loan could not be made.

After two attempts, according to Lewis' testimony at the hearing, he was unable to negotiate the loan. The new proceedings were started in which Lewis was given a deed for

Jilted Policeman Wounds Sister and Self

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 21—Angry because she had jilted him, a policeman today shot and killed Miss Margaret Bowe and seriously wounded her sister, Miss Frances Bowe.

The shooting occurred on the street while the girls were hurrying to work. As they screamed and fell the man, identified as Peter J. Mooney, a sergeant in the Delaware & Lackawanna railroad's private police force, turned the gun on himself and shot himself near the heart. He is in serious condition. A note giving the cause for his act was found in his pocket.

THREE VICTIMS NEAR DEATH AS HOMES BURN

13 Children, Two Mothers Listed in Toll of Flames

FATHERS ESCAPE

Tragedies Occur In Small Illinois and Pennsylvania Towns

Fifteen dead, 13 being children, was the toll this afternoon of three fires which destroyed homes at Lansing, Ill., Carrolltown, Pa., and Hillsboro, Pa., early today and last night.

Four other persons are in hospitals badly burned with only one of them expected to recover.

Ten persons, including two mothers and their eight children, were burned to death when fire destroyed a home in Carrolltown, near Altoona, and another in Hillsboro near Johnstown, early today and last night.

Mrs. Mary Snaltzer Mangold lost her life at Carrolltown with her five children [illegible]. At Hillsboro Mrs. Irene E. Berkey, 27, and her three children, the oldest four years of age [illegible] their [illegible]. In both instances the fathers escaped.

The dead:

At Carrolltown, Pa.—Mrs. Mary Snaltzer Mangold; [illegible] Mangold; [illegible] Mary Frances Mangold; [illegible] Mangold; [illegible] Mangold; [illegible] Mangold, [illegible] months.

At Hillsboro, Pa.—Mrs. Irene E. Berkey, 27; Marion Berkey, [illegible]; Myrna Berkey, [illegible]; Melvin Berkey, six months.

[illegible] Mangold, husband and father of the Carrolltown victims, was aroused from his sleep by men en route to work and escaped before the [illegible] was destroyed. The mother ran to the second floor room where the children slept and died in an effort to save them.

Zenas Berkey, 28, husband and father of the Hillsboro victims, was burned in an effort to save his family but will recover. He ran for help, which arrived too late to save the four.

Sadie Ooms, 10, died in a hospital at Hammond, Ind., today from burns received when the Ooms home at Lansing, Ill., across the state line from Hammond, was destroyed by fire today. Her three brothers and one sister perished in the flames. The parents and another child are in the same hospital. Little hope is held for their recovery.

Firemen found Ooms and his wife unconscious in the front yard of their burning home. Two children lay nearby. The bodies of four other children were found in the ruins.

It is believed the fire started in the lower part of the house. The family slept upstairs. The parents staggered through the flames with two of the youngsters but were too badly burned to attempt further rescue.

THREE INQUIRIES IN PEN ESCAPE BEGUN

Four Men Now Back Behind Bars in Solitary Confinement

COLUMBUS, Feb. 21—Three investigations are under way today, and another probe which probably will be more extensive is pending into the escape of five convicts from the Ohio State penitentiary here early Tuesday morning.

Warden P. E. Thomas is conducting a probe and Welfare Director Hal Griswold has a separate investigation under way. J. H. Youngblood, construction engineer of the cell block from which the men sawed their way to freedom, is also conducting an investigation as to what measures he should take to make the new cell block "escape proof."

Introduces Resolution

Rep. James F. Anderson of Stark county introduced a resolution before the lower house of the state legislature yesterday to institute a legislative investigation. The resolution was sent to committee and is expected to come up for passage this week.

This investigation, if made, will probably be of far-reaching results.

Warden Thomas was apparently angered when he heard that the legislators had "meddled." He said

[illegible] YORK, Feb. 21—The steel [illegible] the end in a moderate [illegible] at the beginning of [illegible] today, but the three days' [illegible] on the big board brought [illegible] the Saturday closing order. [illegible] uncertainty over the reserve [illegible] situation spread caution [illegible] of the bulls and bears [illegible] the market did not make [illegible] progress in either direction. Scattered selling of the industrial [illegible] was induced by the desire of traders to be out of the market over the holiday. The reserve bank meeting and the weekly report on brokers' loans, the week's important money market features, will not be heard from until after the close of the session today and "anything can happen before Monday," in the Wall Street view.

United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel Foundries, Crucible and other steel shares, after reaching high price levels at the beginning of the session, were forced back on heavier selling, the bears were ready for the usual preholiday [illegible] with the assurance that the big bulls would not "back up their favorites as strongly as if the market were not closed tight for a protracted period.

The widest downward swings in prices today were seen in the high priced utility and specialty stocks which have been flying skyward in the last few days. At 127, American and Foreign Power was down four points for the day and 11 from the high of the week. Anaconda and Kennecott lost a point each, Wright Aero three points and Dupont three.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 21—All the grains scored moderate advances on the local exchange yesterday. Bullish enthusiasm was more manifest in the trade, based largely on the wider outside participation in the wheat market.

Strength at Winnipeg and a more bullish tone to foreign news served to offset considerable opposition on the part of local professionals, and wheat prices were sharply higher all session. May touched the previous high for the season and July sold at new prices for the crop, while Winnipeg futures all sold at new highs. Closing quotations showed net advances of [illegible]c.

Corn ruled firm and higher, with rumors of export [illegible], active buying by a leading local bull [illegible] Trade in this market, however, continued limited. Selling against purchases supplied the demand and checked the upturn which was well maintained. Prices finished [illegible]c higher.

Oats Strong

Oats were strong, being on the buying side of further spreading operations with corn and closed [illegible]c up. Rye was irregular, finishing [illegible] lower to [illegible]c higher.

Wheat prices dipped for a moment at the opening in sympathy with weak cables. Liverpool closed [illegible] lower, reflecting continued pressure from Argentine offerings. Active commission house buying appeared immediately after the opening, which with the aid of buying by local bulls and short covering prices promptly advanced [illegible]c.

Winnipeg was ahead of the local advance and reports from there said that [illegible] and exporters were taking all the wheat offered. This served to offset the discouraging reports from Liverpool where it was said Argentine offerings of large proportions were well below a parity with Canadian varieties.

Millers Purchase

Minneapolis and Kansas City also [illegible] of purchases by mills and other Winnipeg houses said a good flour business was under way with the [illegible].

Other European news suggested possibility of a further increase in the demand due to overestimates of crops by Rumania Jugo Slavia and Spain. In addition, Russian news at last attracted some attention. Press dispatches giving rumors of a revolution in which food shortage is an important factor received considerable attention.

Reports from Kansas City claimed lowest basis on the crop for cash wheat, and there were offers of wheat to come here from the Southwest, though none was reported worked. Export demand continued quiet, according to seaboard reports.

Corn ran into opposition when prices attained the cost of the privileges, but up to that time offerings were limited. For the first time since offerings of corn from Southwest markets have been current, the futures held firm in the face of workings of the cash grain. Kansas City sold 70,000 bu Nos. 2 and 3 mixed to come here, and the sale was reported made at the lowest discounts of the year.

Most High School Students Here Use Money Wisely, Banking Survey Shows

people outside of the school knew expenditures they wouldn't to term the boys and thoughtless youngsters school with no thought but survey was made by the K. H. Marshall, to find what his pupils were doing money withdrawn from savings accounts. The report from the date of the last handed in unsigned so need be no embarrassment of the student who hadn't savings for some noble pur-hundred sixty-one reports turned in, with 222 acknowl- that the withdrawals were absolute necessities.

Where the Money Went the withdrawals, like those summer vacation and Quiver were made last year at the the school year.

student paid for his senior with the money last with- from the account and another a expensive part of the senior year invitations.

One hundred and fifty students took money from their accounts to purchase clothing, shoes, etc., and 43 of the boys and girls used their money to buy books.

Some time expenses in the home become so heavy that money is drawn from all sources to meet the requirements, and this was the case with 20 students at the high school.

Class jewelry, always a big item with seniors, caused 11 of them to break in on the savings which they had established.

Other Necessities

Other necessities to school life which were mentioned by fewer students were two withdrawals for insurance, four for the Quiver Annual, three for typewriters and two for loans.

Not listed as a necessity, but as evidence of a good business head were the 75 withdrawals for transfer to savings accounts. Evidently the students had a higher rate of interest in mind at the time of the withdrawal.

Christmas time and its avalanche of gift presenting, shows prominently in the report, being the cause given by 73 for taking their money from the bank.

Last year, when school doors closed and young hearts gave way to their natural urge for a vacation, 18 followed up this urge with substantial backing from their school banking accounts.

A wide range of meaning is given to the item "pleasure," listed by 61 students. Just what this includes was not specified, but anyone who knows high school students can use his imagination in defining "pleasure."

It is necessary for parents of pupils in the grade schools to sign the withdrawal permits, but this is not so in the high school. This possibly accounts Mr. Marshall thinks, for the large number of withdrawals for pleasure.

PROGRAM FEATURES GRANGE ASSEMBLY

Bethlehem and Pomona Members Entertained at Shrock School House

Members of Bethlehem Grange, Pomona Grange and visitors from the city attended the open meeting of Progressive Grange No. 2445 Tuesday night at the Shrock School building, south of the city. More than 50 were in attendance.

Short talks were given by S. B. Stone, legislative agent of Pomona grange and W. T. Owen, grange master.

Entertainment for the meeting was a play, "The Deacon's Second Wife," by members of Progressive grange. The roles were as follows: Mrs. John Fairchild, "Mrs. Melvina Fitz"; John Fairchild, "Deacon Fitz"; Vernon Gruber, "Milton Fitz"; Miss Ethel Mack, "Nancy Fitz"; Miss Gertrude Moore, "Mrs. Brown"; Mrs. Altheus Gruber, "Kate Rowland"; LeRoy Mack, "John Bullock"; Miss Alma Click, "Dorothy Bullock"; Mrs. LeRoy Mack, "Mrs. Bullock"; Francis Fairchild, "Hartley Bullock"; Altheus Gruber, "Ernest Rench" and Howard Click, "Phillip Gamboge."

Between acts of the play Mrs. Mack and Miss Click gave a piano duet, "The Sleigh Ride." A vocal solo, "Poor Papa," was sung by John Fairchild.

Pomona Grange announced a meeting for Saturday, March 2, at the Grand Prairie School building. A regular meeting of Progressive grange will be held in two weeks.

GREEN CAMP BOYS SPONSOR BANQUET

Members of Ag Department Entertain Parents at Program Dinner

An interesting event of the school year was the Parent-Son banquet sponsored by students of the agricultural department of the Green Camp high school Saturday night in the gymnasium of the school. An old-fashioned country dinner was served by the girls of the home economics department and decorations, suggestive of Colonial days were used throughout the room and for the tables.

Talks were given by Congressman-elect Grant E. Mouser and Prof. R. T. Stewart, head of the educational department at Ohio State university. Mr. Mouser chose for his subject, "The Part the Boy Has To Play on the Farm," and Professor Steward spoke on "Duties of the Vocational Agricultural Teacher in the Community."

Clifford Smith presided as toastmaster and Robert Huffman presented the history of the organization. An outline of the social activities was given by Harry Lyons and R. N. Lovett, vocational instructor, gave a talk on "Cooperation of the School and Community."

Damon Carey entertained with a saxophone solo and Lena Schaber contributed a piano number. Covers at the dinner were placed for 75.

WALDO P. T. A. HAS PROGRAM MEETING

Meeker Superintendent Gives Talk on Founders' Day

Superintendent M. A. Povenmire, of Meeker, gave an address on "Founders Day," at the meeting of members of the Waldo Parent-Teachers association held Tuesday night in the Waldo centralized high school. A feature of the musical program was the presentation of several numbers by members of the Meeker harmonica band composed of Paul Anthony, Enid Hickman, Mabel Cates, Margaret Kennedy, Esther Wiley, Raymond Rhodes and Dortha Ellen Anderson.

After a short business session in charge of the president, Mrs. C. W. Ulmer, the program was turned over to Superintendent K. W. Povenmire, of the Waldo schools. Miss Martha Allmendinger, accompanied at the piano by Miss Avanelle Schweinfurth sang "In the Garden of Tomorrow," and Thomas Hobson sang "Bells of the Sea," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. K. W. Povenmire.

"Darling Nellie Gray," "Red Wing" and "Whispering Hope," were the numbers presented by the band, and the members concluded the program with a group of band numbers, "Old Black Joe," "In the Garden" and "Home Sweet Home."

A social hour, during which refreshments were served, was held following the program.

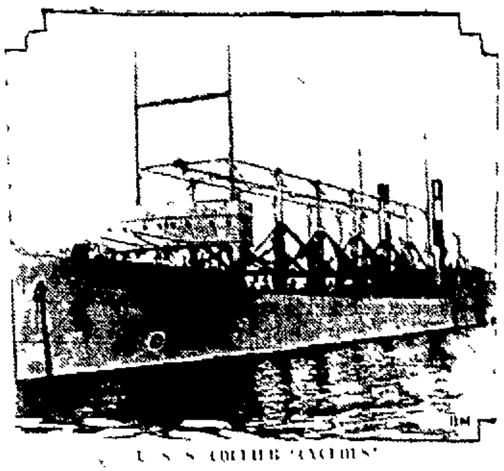
Again?

A day that might have meant so much—and she has to be excused. What a pity there's a woman left who does not know of Midol! One or two tablets in time and not a twinge of pain throughout the menstrual process. Or an end to such suffering at any time five to seven minutes after Midol is taken. Yet this merciful medicine is non-narcotic. Its wonderful results are due to the fact it acts directly on the organs affected, so it's utterly harmless and it is only common sense to use it. Midol comes in a clever little case of aluminum you can slip in the smallest purse. And the cost of this comfort is fifty cents.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

Cyclops Disappearance is Great War Mystery



U. S. S. COLLIER "CYCLOPS"

Navy Department Thinks Fate of Collier Now Settled

ELEVEN years after the U. S. S. Cyclops, naval collier, dropped from the face of the Atlantic with [illegible] persons on board, a solution to [illegible] disappearance has been found in confidential naval records of World War days.

Out of the mass of letters, wireless communications and intercepted German messages comes a [illegible]. It is that the collier was caught in a terrific storm south of the Virginia capes, capsized and sank with all hands.

In March, 1918, the Cyclops was en route from Rio de Janeiro to Baltimore with a cargo of manganese ore.

The collier on its fatal voyage was not directly operating in the naval service, but had been chartered by the United States & Brazil Steamship Company to transport manganese. The naval vessel was [illegible] maximum [illegible] weight. The cargo was not well trimmed. [illegible] was out of commission. At the time of [illegible] sailing, there were 1600 tons of sea water in [illegible] the collier's double bottom. The Cyclops crew were mainly inexperienced, with no knowledge of handling a ship or life aboard a ship, according to a report to the Navy Department signed by Lieut. Commander [illegible] W. Worley, the collier's [illegible].

On March 9, 1918, the S. S. Amalco passed the Cyclops off the Virginia capes. On March 10 a terrific storm came up which all but sank the Amalco. On March 23 the collier was recorded as missing. Squadrons of naval vessels were dispatched on the search. Wireless calls swept the entire Atlantic, but went unanswered. Even the Imperial German Navy, then at war with the United States, was requested for news of the collier. Wireless messages passing between German naval headquarters and German submarines were intercepted and decoded, but all U-boat commanders denied having [illegible] on the Cyclops.

One hundred days later the Cyclops was officially marked "lost" and all on board dead.

Was Heavily Overloaded

The maximum dead weight of the Cyclops was 11,500 tons. Its cargo capacity was listed at 8,000 tons of coal. With the 10,000 tons of manganese on board, with the 1600 tons of water and in addition coal and provisions, the collier was heavily overloaded. When it left the Barbados the water line was above its Plimsoll line or safety mark.

Many rumors as to the fate of the collier reached the naval intelligence force. The one trace of the collier came from Donald Fraser of Chicago, whom naval officers credited with being responsible. Fraser said in February, 1920, while cruising off the Bahamas he was forced to take refuge on Gun Key because of a storm. He said he found wreckage of a lifeboat on which was stenciled the letters "U. S. S. Cyclops."

Also, Fraser reported, he noticed what appeared to be the sunken hull of a ship about 2,000 yards off the key. Another Fine Local Product

A story in our news columns a day or two ago telling of the development of a new model tractor by the Huber Manufacturing company made not only very interesting but also very pleasing reading to all those interested in the advancement of Marion industry.

The new model which is known as the Huber New Light Four as its name implies, is a light tractor of twenty horsepower rating on drawbar and thirty six on belt operation especially adapted for use on farms of medium size for plowing, threshing and general farm work which is being sold at a price decidedly below the [illegible] of the three heavier models made by the company.

It is characteristic of the Huber company that it withheld [illegible] announcement of the new development until 200 of the [illegible] initially scheduled for production had been sold and it was definitely known that there was a demand for it. We say that this course is characteristic of the company for the reason that it has been followed faithfully for over half a century and in all that time — and even longer for [illegible] — has not offered the public a single product which failed to [illegible] the [illegible] In a word such have been the [illegible] products as to establish a reputation [illegible] There is general [illegible] all sections where Huber products have [illegible] operated which [illegible] over that it's a Huber [illegible]

A Substitute for Rubber Found.

Mr Thomas [illegible] would be easier to [illegible] the energy of the co[illegible] [illegible] President [illegible]

[illegible] would [illegible] His [illegible] has been [illegible] which may be used as a substitute should this country be cut off from its rubber supply as Germany was during the World war or in an eventuality similar to the [illegible] of the British rubber monopoly [illegible] years ago to work a hardship on American motorists and other users of rubber. To this end he has devoted a number of years experimentation with something like 15,000 varieties of weeds with the result at finding of one which will produce a fluid from which a workable substitute for rubber can be extracted. This weed it is said can be mowed like hay and it is a perennial and thus does not require planting [illegible] year after year.

In his experimentation with the fluids from the thousands of weeds he has tried out Mr Edison has been using a small plant with which since finding the particular weed from which the substitute can be produced he has been getting a substitute production of five pounds a day. So there [illegible] no question of either the volume or continuity of production with the use of more and larger plants.

The fly in the ointment just at present is that he has not yet succeeded in producing just the right kind of an efficient machine to take the rubber substitute from the fluid of the weed. He has been experimenting for months looking to the production of a machine which will work on much the same principle as a cream separator which will pick the resin and other component parts of the fluid and run them out of one outlet while running the substitute out of another just as a separator runs cream out of one faucet and skimmed milk out of the other.

While Mr Edison has not yet attained success in evolving such an apparatus he is hopeful that he will soon be able to do so and is continuing his experimentation to that end.

As we have indicated it is hard to understand why more interest has not been aroused by Mr Edison's announcement, why it has not been given more attention by the press of the land. He is not a dreamer in the sense that his dreams never become eventualities. His scores of inventions which have proved blessings to the public make manifest how really practical he has been in his dreaming. Of all our inventors probably none has been a greater benefactor to humanity. Hence our inability to understand the seeming lack of appreciation for his latest contribution to mankind—a rubber substitute which might mean the difference between victory and defeat in time of war and will have a most decided tendency to protect us from exhorbitant price demands for rubber in time of peace.

That eminent Chicagoan the Hon Joseph Saltis has left the Windy City for Florida where he plans to recuperate from his stay of sixty days in jail for carrying concealed weapons.

More than an ordinary degree of cabinet making has been done for Mr Hoover yet it is not impossible that when the job is turned out it will bear evidences of a lot of absolutely original work by him.

A Wisconsin woman of thirty two freed eight years ago on the ground of insanity of killing her husband has been arrested for shooting her former lover two weeks ago. We assume that her defense will be that her recovery from her mental illness didn't take.

It's a bit hard to credit that story from Columbus about a prisoner in the penitentiary down there sawing through iron bars with one hand while playing a jew sharp with the other unless it be that he is a freak with three hands.

A Milwaukee woman has sued the telephone company up there for $5,000 damages because the operator has been calling the wrong number compelling her to go up stairs ten or twelve times every Monday morning while she was doing her washing. If she is able to collect on that showing she would be almost justified in hiring her washing done.

Another slight weakness about the ill-credited story to the effect that Mr Lindbergh was 90 [illegible] Captain [illegible] Anderson commander of the Dollar liner President Wilson was that Captain Anderson has been happily married for thirty five years.

Symptoms of Sleeping Sickness.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Doctors use a great many big words. [illegible] is one of them. This word is defined as an inflammation of the brain substance.

To the anatomist the brain is known as the encephalon. This shows you why the term encephalitis is used to express inflammation of the brain.

Even the doctors heard little about encephalitis until after the influenza epidemics of 1918 and 1919. It was observed that influenza was followed in some cases by certain symptoms which indicated an inflammation of the brain. To this disease was given the name influenzal encephalitis. It is known to the laity as sleeping sickness.

The way the ailment announces its presence is by the [illegible] or actual unconsciousness which suddenly appears. The afflicted person is walking along the street and suddenly falls down unconscious or almost so.

This attack is not like a fit as ordinarily understood. There are not likely to be convulsions and frothing at the mouth. There is a dullness or stupor which was never experienced before.

In some cases there may be convulsive attacks. Later on it may be observed that the eyes do not focus or they appear crossed.

Sleeping sickness is an obscure sort of ailment. Sometimes it is extremely difficult to determine that it is really an attack of encephalitis. The doctors have difficulty in deciding whether the symptoms are due to tumor of the brain or hemorrhages into that organ. There have been cases where it was first thought the patient had been poisoned.

I am speaking of sleeping sickness because of a letter which came to me from [illegible]. I suppose there have been cases there as there have been in other parts of North America.

The severity of the symptoms leads always to consultation with the family doctor. On this account it is unnecessary for me to make any statement regarding the treatment.

I am glad to say that many of the patients I have known about have recovered. It is necessary to be conservative however. In any inflammation of the brain is bound to be serious and the recovery slow.

The onset of sleeping sickness is sudden fever appears and the symptoms develop rapidly. You need not be frightened by every headache and general discomfort. These passing symptoms do not mean sleeping sickness. As a matter of fact there are so few cases there need be no fear of its attacking you or yours.

Editorial Opinion.

THE BRITISH POSITION

Some in their haste have concluded that the British government meant to rap its ambassador in Washington over the knuckles. But Sir Esme Howard's public statement on Friday is not contradicted by the communique of the British foreign office on Saturday. It was not at all likely that a diplomat of Sir Esme's experience would have said what he did on his own. He must have had official warrant for the language he used. And in fact when this is compared with the foreign office statement it will be seen that the two are not in conflict.

They are in agreement on all the main points. First of all the British government carefully refrained from expressing any opinion whatever about our cruiser bill. That was our own affair. In a similar way if Great Britain resolves to go ahead building her two new cruisers that is her affair. Only after the American measure had become law did the British government think it expedient not to say it hesitate to raise the question of another conference for naval disarmament. Now the official assurance is that the preliminaries for such a conference are being diligently studied by the British government which will first communicate its decisions to the dominions and then be in a position to make a further communication to the United States.

This is virtually the same view as that given by Sir Esme Howard. Perhaps he left us to understand that the British approach might be made earlier than now seems probable. As the foreign office explains the steps which it has under consideration will take some time. The delay will doubtless not be wholly due to the need of obtaining the opinion of the self governing dominions. A new president is shortly to take office in the United States and the British government would naturally wish to wait before making advances to him until he is firmly in his seat. It is also probable that nothing positive may be done until after the coming general election in England. This is set down for the known date either the last week in May or the first in June. There may be a new British government not long after the new American one is installed at Washington.

The project of negotiation about reduction in naval strength need not be imperiled by a short postponement. In this matter too it is better to be late than sorry. But we already have the announcement that the basis for a friendly discussion is laid down. The rest should follow in due time.—New York Times.

FORTY SEVEN TO NOTHING

Local investigation of suspects growing out of the latest gang murder in Chicago has produced some significant information regarding the vast gulf between arrest on a criminal charge and a verdict of guilty as charged which exists in this town.

According to the Detroit police records one man made the subject of inquiry has been arrested twenty times on felony charges of which seventeen were charges of robbery armed. A second has been arrested on felony charges thirteen times being accused of robbery armed nine times. A third has a record of twelve felony charges, one being a charge of robbery armed and one being a charge of murder. That makes forty seven arrests in all. And none of the three men ever has been convicted.

There are two natural general conclusions from such a showing. Either the police make arrests and apply for warrants in a much more reckless manner than is customary or the suspected them of being [illegible] for some reason the administration of justice in Detroit has fallen into a genuinely appalling state [illegible] ineffectiveness and malfeasance. Walking along the Bowery the other evening a band of Salvationists were singing hymns a few steps from what was once the most terrible dive in America—McGurk's Suicide hall. In the halcyon days it was a lager beer and concert parlor whither lost and forlorn lilies crept to pour carbolic acid in their beer and fall to the floor with faces wreathed in sardonic and agonizing grins. Suicide hall had a record of twenty seven suicides among its soiled sisterhood. Dust in the Eyes.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Recent efforts to reconcile the supporters of the new quantum theory of light with those of the old wave theory have led to an interesting situation. On the one hand there are phenomena which cannot be explained which seem inexplicable except on the assumption that light consists of waves conveyed by an invisible medium. On the other hand but on the other hand there are other phenomena which are thought to demonstrate that light is composed of particles shot off like [illegible] from luminous sources.

Superficially this last hypothesis agrees with the idea that Newton had but which was almost universally abandoned after the undulatory or wave theory had won a number of successes in explaining phenomena. Even recently the modern science has felt compelled to continue its use of light waves even though it has lost faith in them in which respect it is human.

But in the sweep of the torrent of discoveries and researches the two theories have stood over against one another like bridge towers in a flood. Each in strength and persistence has refused to yield for the other and some have thought both would go down together in the waters.

But the advocates on either side [illegible] bering it might be supposed the story of the [illegible] out of which grew the mighty empire of the Caesars have preferred to combine efforts in order to work out a reconciliation and a unification whereby the strong points of each might be conserved and made to support one another.

The result is now beginning to appear. It seems full of promise. Both sides of course have had to make sacrifices [illegible] sacrifices of theory not of fact [illegible] been willing to look at the facts from a changed angle. On one side the famous picture of the planetary atom resembling a mimic solar system has been allowed to fade. On the other cherished views of the characteristics of the light waves have been modified.

At present we are offered this product of the combination: While moving from one place to another light appears to spread as waves but when producing an [illegible] effect it would materialize into discrete particles.

The man in the street who is habitually a very shrewd observer of the [illegible] of things he has to be for safety either physical or mental will probably restate it thus: Light consists of waves of dust and when it hits the eye it is the dust not the wave that is effective.

It is for the researcher to discover what connects the particles or quanta of light in such a way as to rally them into waves when they start out to cross space to make them behave like wave fronts when they turn corners and so on. He will do it sure but it will be done with mathematical symbols whose asserted meaning the man in the street will have to accept on faith unless he prefers to go back to school and study the thing from the bottom up. It is because few can be made to see the necessity of the dilemma that so many are continually butting their heads against simple explanations of abstruse scientific theories which are in fact about as informative as Tom Sawyer's explanation to Huck Finn of what made the genies come tearing in with thunder and lightning a ripping around ready [illegible] palace forty miles long out of diamonds [illegible] to fetch an emperor's daughter from China when an old tin lamp was rubbed.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

The wheel follows the foot of the [illegible] who drags the cart. Until you let go the wheel is relentlessly in your track. So with habit. But our wont is to regard him with fear. Boys and girls are brought up to be afraid of habit. We take a negative attitude toward it. We are constantly warning young people against the acquirement of habit. There is a constructive side to the [illegible] Habit is meant to be the servant and no master of men. Habit properly trained can be made to do much of our routine [illegible] leaving our minds free for more interesting and adventurous things.

Every man needs as part of his furnishings two pieces of equipment, a starter and a Maxim silencer. With [illegible] which is the [illegible] function powerfully without notice while the Maxim silencer [illegible] work in the world.

Let's have no [illegible] Let's have no dole system. England spends millions each year in handing out amounts on all sorts of pensions. When the laws were passed providing for the [illegible] of aged and the unemployed and others it looked like splendid generosity on the part of the government. But human nature doesn't thrive that way. People grow and get better by such means. [illegible] found that many of the unemployed no[illegible] sought work and no longer [illegible] the [illegible] were content to live on [illegible] dole of the government. In America we have good institutions for the sick, maimed, the defective but [illegible] age men or women to let themselves be carried when they can walk.

Confucius, Chinese teacher, was one of few thinkers who thought not merely of own time and surroundings but for the [illegible] to come. Said Confucius: "Justice and benevolence are the basis of the structure of society."

There is of little worth unless we [illegible] up on ourselves and make an application [illegible] example: how do we stand on [illegible] benevolence in our relation to the human society?

FORMER RESIDENT OF MARION DIES

Body of Mrs Laura Williams Brought Here from Cleveland

Mrs Laura Williams a former resident of Marion died at her home in Cleveland about 6 o'clock last night following an 18 months illness of cancer. The body was brought to Marion early this morning by [illegible] Curtis & Co and was taken to the Curtis funeral home. It will be removed to the home of Mrs Williams' sister Mrs [illegible] R Johnson [illegible] tonight where it may be viewed.

The exact time for the funeral services has not been determined. There will be short services at the Johnson [illegible] and then the body will be taken to Kenton where church services will be held and interment made.

Mrs Williams was 71 years of age and was the daughter of Henry and Charlotte Lautenslager of Kenton. She resided in this city after her marriage to [illegible] Williams until last September when they moved to Cleveland.

She is survived by her father who is living in Kenton her husband one daughter Miss Helen Williams one sister Mrs [illegible] Johnson [illegible] three brothers Henry of [illegible] Carl of Ft Wayne and [illegible] of Lima.

[illegible]

[illegible] for the job the president [illegible] has been seeking [illegible] front of the [illegible] year.

Challenge to Borah

It was reported he had asked Senator William E. Borah of Idaho to take the post but that Borah had declined. Last night the senator spent the evening at the Hoover home presumably discussing the situation in detail. Borah commands [illegible] [illegible] position [illegible] which and [illegible] circumstances the attorney generalship would not tempt him to leave. But the rumors were that Mr Hoover was rather putting his offer [illegible] form of a challenge. Borah having [illegible] outspoken from the rostrum on the subject of prohibition enforcement.

Again rumors were going the rounds that Henry L. Stimson, present governor general of the Philippines, was going to be attorney general in the Hoover cabinet rather than secretary of state as originally reported. Stimson it is known was recommended to Mr Hoover by former Secretaries of State Charles E. Hughes and Elihu Root for the justice portfolio as against the state [illegible] appointment.

Roberts Mentioned

A third name thrown into the hopper with renewed vigor during the last 24 hours was that of Owen J. Roberts the Philadelphia lawyer who has been the special prosecutor of the oil scandals.

Whichever way the job goes it was indicated strongly around Hoover headquarters that the new attorney general will be looked upon as one of the most important men in the cabinet.

[illegible] Mr Hoover had few callers today. Rep. Will Wood Republican [illegible] Indiana was the only other scheduled visitor on the list.

Drys To Force House Passage

WASHINGTON Feb [illegible] [illegible] forces today prepared to demonstrate their overwhelming control of the house as well as the senate by forcing passage of the drastic Jones bill despite reluctance of house leaders.

With only nine working days left of [illegible] session the drys announced that they would use extraordinary measures if necessary to force a vote on the measure which makes the maximum penalty for violation of the Volstead act five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Although a similar bill has been on the house calendar for more than a year the house drys were galvanized into renewed activity as a result of the crushing dry victory in the senate.

Representative Stalker Republican of New York author of a bill identical with the Jones measure said he may request Speaker Longworth to recognize him to move passage of the Jones bill under suspension of the rules.

A two third vote is necessary to accomplish this but the drys claim a voting strength in the house of approximately 290 out of the 435 members more than the necessary number.

Contract Defective

More than a month after the deal was completed Lewis [illegible] Haas and Mulvaine. Haas testified yesterday that he [illegible] [illegible] that if Diaman ever failed [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

When Lewis [illegible] dissatisfaction with the transaction Diaman proposed [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] George L. Coran who contended that [illegible] settlement [illegible] rather than court action to set aside the entire transaction. The result of this was that Lewis threw out [illegible] himself with both the Spencer [illegible] and [illegible] properties on his hands.

Basis of Settlement

When Haas testified on the witness stand yesterday that he was still willing and ready to stand by his verbal agreement to take over the lots or [illegible] this was hit upon as a means of settlement. An arrangement was worked out by board members and attorneys for Lewis and Haas whereby Lewis will not be injured financially by the transaction. The hearing was [illegible] and Haas license was restored when the settlement was agreed to.

Here [illegible] charge of fraud against Haas or Mulvaine in the complaint filed with the board [illegible] by Lewis. The complaint simply recites the details of the transaction. The deal was begun during the latter part of last October and was completed in December.

At the first hearing held more than a month ago in Columbus Haas and Mulvaine were [illegible] by the board. They demanded a rehearing which resulted in the settlement and reinstatement yesterday. Haas and Mulvaine were represented at the hearing by Attorneys Grant E. Mouser Sr and Leon [illegible] Wiant of the law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant and Homer [illegible] Johnson. Attorney George L. Coran represented Lewis.

E. Wilbur Inskip Marion attorney and realtor is president of the state licensing board. Inskip presided at the hearing yesterday held in the county commissioners' office. Other members of the board here were [illegible] Smith of Cleveland and John Wood of Georgetown. [illegible] Ackerman acting secretary and [illegible] Kelly clerk both of Columbus were also present.

SALESMEN MEET

District Insurance Conference Held at Hotel Harding

Albert D. [illegible] manager of the Ohio Farm Bureau Mutual Auto Insurance Co. was in charge of the monthly meeting of the fifth district of the company which was held yesterday morning and afternoon in Hotel Harding.

The fifth district which includes eight counties in this part of the state started the first of this year to hold a meeting each month in this city if possible. The morning session of the meeting, which was attended by about 20 salesmen was devoted to a discussion of sales policies and sales plans in this district. No special speaker was in charge but all present took part in the discussion.

The monthly business dinner was held from 12 until 1 o'clock, after which a sales talk was given by one of the salesmen of the company. The afternoon session of the meeting was then devoted to a discussion of this talk and the strong and weak parts of it.

Young Fourth Prisoner Taken

COLUMBUS Feb 21—With the [illegible] of Walter Young [illegible] [illegible] four convicts who escaped early Tuesday from the Ohio State penitentiary were back in the institution today all in solitary confinement.

Young was captured [illegible] [illegible] about [illegible] by [illegible] and another officer. When taken into custody the prisoner's feet were frozen and he was in such a miserable condition that he begged the officers to shoot him. He said "Just put a bullet through my head and do me a favor."

The arrest of Young leaves only James Walton Clyde [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] in the jail delivery at large.

Caught Last Tuesday

Pat McDermott lifetermer and trigger man in the Don Mellett assassination and Mike Jacko Cleveland murderer were taken by authorities the same night they escaped. [illegible] Russo Cleveland robber was captured early yesterday near the summit [illegible] where the Marietta murderer was found.

Young, when taken into custody, refused to talk but when [illegible] told him that Russo had been [illegible] [illegible] and Russo had left the [illegible] they dragged [illegible] the walls. He said they hid [illegible] all day Tuesday and at night broke into the [illegible] at Hartman farm [illegible] the property [illegible]

[illegible] all day [illegible] [illegible] walked into the [illegible]

He related he had only ice cream to eat [illegible] [illegible] brakes for his capture.

Wearing Prison Garb

Young told the officers he had attempted to stop a car on the [illegible] the highway but that the occupants brushed him off.

Young, who is a lifetermer, was wearing the prison garb. He had on two shirts one of which was stolen from the [illegible] at Hartman Farm.

A suspect said to resemble Walton is being held by police at New Philadelphia. Penitentiary officials after being given a description of the man [illegible] that he was the want[illegible] [illegible] A Myers superintendent of the Ohio State Bureau of Criminal Identification [illegible] [illegible] fingerprint records of the escaped criminal. The man arrested gave the name of Harry Goldberg.

[illegible] who captured Young is the officer who took Russo into custody. Under state law, he is eligible for a $100 reward.

CITES CHURCH NEED

Perambulator Christians Scored by Evangelist

Christ cannot use perambulator Christians who need to be coddled and nursed. Some preachers are kept so busy rocking cradles they don't have time to preach. A walking Christian does not have to be propped up every Monday," said the Rev. H. [illegible] Zachman [illegible] at Calvary Evangelical church last night.

Continuing, the Rev Mr Zachman said "Christ is always attracted by the most needy one. If you are in need He will help you. Some people are more anxious about what becomes of their bodies after they die than what becomes of their soul and reject Christ here.

Christ first appeals to the will. [illegible] cannot be saved against your own will. He is willing to save but some folks are so in the grip of habit and sin that they cannot break loose.

It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctor's word for that. It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle unopened to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children too. Read the book that comes with it.

EATS PORK AND BEANS, CUCUMBERS—NO GAS

I eat pork and beans, cucumbers—anything since taking Adlerika. Stomach gas is gone and I sleep fine. Geo. C. Hicks.

Just ONE spoonful Adlerika relieves gas and that bloated feeling so that you can eat and sleep well. Acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes all waste matter you never thought was there. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. Henney & Cooper, Druggists.—Adv.

FINAL CONCERT

Canto Club To Close Season with Program March 5

The concert of the Canto club Tuesday night, March 5, at The Star auditorium with Miss Bernice Lougle, pianist, as assisting artist will be unusually attractive to Marion people interested in music.

The club, which is now in its sixth season, has been rehearsing since the last concert and will present all new music. The concert will be the final appearance of the club this year.

Miss Lougle is a graduate of the Lyceum Arts Conservatory of Chicago and Karlton Hackett of the Chicago Evening Post says of her: "A pianist of unusually high merits. Her technique was a model of accuracy, her rhythm pronounced and perfect."

Tickets for the concert were distributed to the club members at a regular rehearsal Tuesday night at St. Paul's parish house.

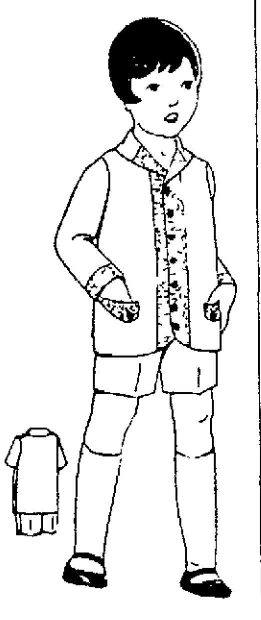
Fashion's Forecast

By Annabel Worthington



2622

THE STYLE presented with straight shorts and English sack suit is unusually mannish and yet so practical. An extended band at front of jacket forms a vestee and provides smart color scheme. Any little boy would feel important in this jacket suit that buttons down the front, making it possible for the youngster to dress himself. Linen, cotton broadcloth, repp, chambray, jerseys and velvet appropriate.

THE PATTERN of Style No. 2622 with picture chart, a real help in saving time, illustrates each and every part, how it is put together without involving difficult workmanship. You'll be surprised how entirely simple it is. Cuts in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. The pattern is offered at cost price, 15 cents (stamps or coin), as a service to readers who sew.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

COUPON

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents. Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to the pattern department THE MARION STAR BUREAU, Peerless Fashion Service, 22 E. 18th st., New York City.

Getting Up Nights Is Nature's Danger Signal

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, Jeffersonville, Ohio, says: "I feel I am doing real missionary work when I tell or write how my wife was relieved of a serious case of bladder irritation with Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). She had to get up 4 to 5 times each night." It acts on bladder as epsom salts do on bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes getting up nights. The tablets cost 2c each at Carl G. Ungericht, druggist.—Adv.

Committee Presents List for Federation Election

Mrs. F. O. [illegible], chairman of the nominating committee named by members of the [illegible] County Federation of Women's Clubs, presented the following list of officers to be submitted for election to be held Mar. 5 at the meeting of members of the executive board this afternoon at the [illegible] home.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.—Adv.

COOLIDGE, HUGHES TO TALK

Set for Friday Night

BY MAC L. ROY

Programs honoring the "Father of His Country," featuring talks by President Coolidge and Justice Charles Evans Hughes will be broadcast over chain networks on Washington's birthday, Friday night.

Coolidge's address will be given at the annual mid-winter convocation of students at George Washington university over the WEAF network of the National Broadcasting Co. at 8:15 o'clock. Following the address the President and Mrs. Coolidge will be presented honorary degrees as doctors of law.

A tribute to America's first president by Justice Hughes will also be a WEAF network feature in a coast-to-coast broadcast. A full half hour will be devoted to the program, the talk beginning at 7:30 o'clock. "The Debt the Nation Owes George Washington" is the subject of Hughes' address.

A dramatic sketch will be presented for the first time in honor of Washington's birthday in the National Broadcasting and Concert bureau hour over the WEAF network at 10 o'clock.

With an all-star cast picked from the outstanding dramatic features on the air, the Concert bureau will present a miniature comedy of "Washington's First Defeat," in addition to the regular musical features.

The story deals with the great American warrior's disappointment in love, when at the age of 19 he was jilted by the "Lowland Beauty," Lucy Grymes.

Proceedings in the old Presbyterian meeting house in Alexandria, Va., where the Washington Society of Alexandria holds its annual celebration at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, will be broadcast through the WJZ network.

The program includes a pageant introducing early members of the society and an address by Albert Bushnell Hart, famous American historian.

"UNIVERSITY" DAY" AT STATION WEAO

Addresses, music and basketball will feature the two hour and a half "University Day" program through WEAO Friday night. The program, which is sponsored by the Ohio State university association, will also be put on the air by WLW at Cincinnati.

President George W. Rightmire, of the university, and the Hon. Renick Dunlap, assistant U. S. secretary of agriculture, will give the addresses. They will be introduced by Lowry F. Sater, Columbus, who will be master of ceremonies during the broadcast.

The Girls' Glee club of the university, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Wilson, and the Men's Glee club, directed by Prof. Herbert Wall, will sing. The new Ohio State football song, "Fight on Ohio," will be heard for the first time, played by the composer, William A. Daugherty, Cleveland attorney. At 7:30 o'clock the basketball game between Ohio State and Purdue will be put on the air with A. Lee Henderson announcing.

"IL TROVATORE" IS COLUMBIA FEATURE

"Il Trovatore" will be the offering of the United Opera company on its next broadcast over stations associated with the Columbia Broadcasting System at 10 o'clock Friday night. The opera in four acts, composed by Verdi, takes its story from an old Spanish drama of the same name. It was first presented in Rome in January, 1853, and in New York in 1855.

CONCERT, OPERATIC STARS ARE SIGNED

A long list of concert and operatic stars, among whom will be found the names of Mary Garden, Feodor Chaliapin, Alma Gluck, Frances Alda, Anna Case, Richard Bonelli, Charles Hackett, Rudolph Ganz and the Russian Symphonic choir, have been signed for an all-star broadcast series in the De Forest Audion hour on the Columbia Broadcasting System. Alma Gluck will inaugurate the series at 10 o'clock Sunday night, March 3, and the rest will follow at intervals of two weeks.

Lives and Loves of Great Stage Beauties

—BY RUTH MORRIS—

Fanny Kemble Rose to Heights Despite Dislike of Theater

THE life of Fanny Kemble is a network of contradictions. Inheriting the talent of a long line of acting Kembles, she nevertheless possessed none of their love for the theater; hating the stage, she achieved preeminence in its field; craving the quiet of a non-professional life, she returned, as though willed by fate, to the boards she professed to despise.

Fanny had a tremendous talent which she scorned and continually minimized. She is said to have been a vest-pocket edition of her aunt, Sarah Siddons, one of the greatest tragediennes of the English stage. She had Siddons's superb eyes and sombre beauty. She possessed the same ability to project character — lacking only that tremendous fascination for the theater that would have led to the very peak of the profession.

FANNY KEMBLE never had to undergo that grueling apprenticeship in the theater in which love for it is often born. She was educated in France as a gentlewoman who would turn occasionally to the polite writing of novels and verse. But her father, Charles Kemble, was not one of those dual souls who combine magnificent art with business acumen and at 18 it became evident that Fanny would have to earn her own living. Her parents decided on a theatrical career for her.

Fanny was frightfully bored with the project. The stage, she said, was degrading. But poverty being worse, she consented to study the part of Juliet in which she was to make her debut under the Kemble banner. A period of three weeks limited her apprenticeship; at the end of that time she was to emerge as a promising young actress — a position she had neither wanted nor worked for.

It had been decided to muster Fanny's young brother into the role of Romeo—a prospect as distasteful to him as Juliet had been to his sister. Accordingly, at the first rehearsal, the young rogue played Romeo with such intentionally comic values that the elder Kemble retired to the back of the theater in an agony of mirth and dismissed his son from the cast. Therein probably died a great comedian.

FANNY played Juliet at Covent Garden for one hundred and twenty performances, her popularity with the public ever growing. This "Romeo and Juliet" was a strictly family affair; it had been directed by Charles Kemble, who recruited distant cousins to enact the various Montagues and Capulets; its costumes were executed by Mrs. Kemble in a manner that defies our present day modernly clothed representations. Mrs. Kemble refused to have her daughter appear in accurate Veronese costumes, with the result that Fanny played the languishing Juliet in the ruffles and furbelows of the nineteenth century.

The London run over, Charles Kemble took his star on a tour of England, Ireland and Scotland where success was duplicated. Searching for new audiences to conquer, the pair set sail for America in 1832.

There was some anxiety as to how New York audiences, accustomed to the noisy comedy and bombastic drama of a younger country would receive Fanny's more subdued art. But worry on this score was needless. Critics and public alike hailed the "grace and deep power of the art of Fanny Kemble." Among the critical fraternity, none was more worshipful than Washington Irving who arranged many entertainments in New York for the visiting star.

IT seemed to Fanny that America would really fulfill her dream of retiring from the stage. In 1834 she met and married a wealthy Philadelphian, rejoicing that at last she was free from a career that seemed to her nothing more than horrid money-grubbing. But happiness did not last. Home life may have bored her; domestic unhappiness may have driven her back to the only alternative she knew; Kemble traditions and love of the theater may have been more deeply seated and enduring to her than she guessed—or would admit. Whatever the reason, in 1837 she returned to England and the stage as Julia in "The Hunchback."

Later, she again gave up the stage, and once more returned—this time as a reader of Shakespeare. Contemporaneous accounts record the wonder of those readings—of how Fanny, without the aid of costume, make-up or scenery, could conjure up and cast out of her superb skill an entire Shakespearean drama.

Her later years were divided between England and America, during which time she wrote several autobiographical works. She died in London in 1893, a charming, sensible woman who was kept only by her hatred of the stage from achieving first place on it.

Letters Praise Philco Performance

Vast distance range, marvelous selectivity, superb tone—that's the testimony of letters from Philco users in all parts of the country. Read the excerpts below. Then see for yourself—arrange for free home demonstration.

3LO With Plenty of Volume
"We got station 3LO at Melbourne, Australia, with more volume than we could use, and with extraordinary clarity of tone."
MRS. A. R. MUNSILL Pasadena, Cal.

88 Stations
"I cut through local interference and easily brought in 88 distant stations from all parts of the country. The Philco is particularly good in the low wave lengths where most sets fall down."
J. P. HANLEY, Chicago, Ill.

5 Japanese Stations
"I have logged many eastern stations and the following Japanese stations: JOBK, JOHK, JOAK, JOFK, JOTK. The Philco has marvelous selectivity and surplus volume and quality that is amazing."
W. M. MORRISON San Diego, Calif.

Wonderful Selectivity
"My hat is off to the Philco. I have tuned in Los Angeles, Dallas and Atlanta on 2 points of the dial."
L. O. DARLING, Buffalo, N. Y.

Breaks Through Interference
"Ouray is difficult for radio because of high mountains and high voltage transmission lines. Philco is the first set that has ever been satisfactory here."
M. J. CANAVAN, Ouray, Colo.

Superb Tone
"Philco has given me a new conception of the possibilities of radio music. Its tone quality is exceptionally fine."
MRS. E. V. TURNER, Dallas, Tex.

Daytime Reception
"During the day my wife gets many distant stations—Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Florida and many low power stations."
EARLE R. WAUGH Pittsburgh, Pa.

Vast Coverage
"I got Hawaii, Alaska, Washington, California, and Oregon, 20 stations in Canada, and 100 in the U. S. All came in clear."
RAY C. BLOOM, Muscatine, Ia.

Sensitive Tuning
"I find it very easy to tune in between 30 and 40 stations on my Philco. Powerful stations which usually tune very broadly I can tune out within one or two points of the dial."
J. DIXON DAVIS, Cincinnati, O.

Distance and Selectivity
"The first night I used the Philco I tuned in 42 stations, including KFI, Los Angeles, and two Canadian stations. Reception is beautiful."
FRANK T. CARPENTER Kansas City, Mo.

"The VANGUARD"

By Arnold Bennett

[illegible] on top of a staircase [illegible] seemed to be on the [illegible]. He leaned [illegible] which [illegible] to [illegible] pieces of the [illegible] and so are [illegible] lovingly. They passed. He pointed [illegible]. They passed [illegible] in the open. A [illegible] smoke their pink [illegible] clutched at their hats [illegible] the carpeted gallery of [illegible] the roof of St. Peter's [illegible] as far below them as the [illegible] the roof.

[illegible] Septimus. It is [illegible] me.

Furber Philosopher

[illegible] a better notion of [illegible] any we would get down [illegible] Lord Furber.

[illegible] started up and the gallery [illegible] face of it where an ab[illegible] seemed to obtain. They [illegible] side in a niche in the [illegible]. They had taken breath [illegible] were still pink and their [illegible] a trifle overworking at the [illegible] engineering job of circulating [illegible]. But they tingled with the [illegible] sensation of perfect health [illegible] comprehended the [illegible] foolishness and futility of [illegible]. Further, they were [illegible] as boys because they were [illegible] who had said they would [illegible] dome of St. Peter's and had [illegible] it.

[illegible] the city lay directly [illegible] them a criss-cross of streets [illegible] with a thousand towers. Two [illegible] being like ants were traversing [illegible] Piazza exactly in front of [illegible]. They moved slowly, scarcely [illegible] crawling.

"[illegible] see those two fellows crossing [illegible]?" said Lord Furber. "[illegible] they're just at the fountain [illegible]. That's you and me, Sep. I mean there isn't that much of difference between them and us. Nobodies. Insects. And they don't [illegible]. And we only know it because we're up here. I feel like [illegible] laughing in his beard at [illegible] Furber and [illegible] Sutherland over there * * * Sep! Have we got [illegible] want?"

[illegible] curious benevolent familiar [illegible] tone as though the baron was [illegible] also. "I hope we have. I [illegible] to have had all we want."

"I should think so," Septimus re[illegible] placidly.

"I reckon we have." The baron [illegible] unable to hear the idea that Septimus had done fundamentally [illegible] in life than he himself had [illegible]. "I suppose. But what [illegible] matter anyhow? This [illegible] is doing me good. Clears the [illegible]. Gives ye a sense of propor[illegible]. That's what it does. I h[illegible]"

"Yes," Septimus agreed. "Yes."

"For two days past I [illegible] telling [illegible] I've been wanting [illegible]. I wanted [illegible] night. Now I don't want [illegible]. I [illegible] want."

"Oh," said Mr. Sutherland. "[illegible] it. What was that?"

"Nothing. Only that Lallers [illegible]ness. It got my nerve [illegible] thing I was beginning to be [illegible] superstitious about [illegible]. Did I know there were any Lallers towels in the stuff that I had sent [illegible] to the yacht? Not me. And when Harriet said 'Lallers!' it gave me [illegible] regular turn. And we [illegible] there wasn't one [illegible] on me. Upon my soul I [illegible] thought I was the [illegible] would want [illegible]." He laughed. "I can see now clear enough [illegible] up here. I thought it meant I was bound to get hold of Lallers. Fact! I was so sure of getting [illegible] I didn't care what tone I used to ye, Sep. Harriet had vexed me, and I let it out on ye. I never wanted anything as much as I wanted Lallers. And for very good reason. But it's all altered now. Now I don't want Lallers.

"I don't [illegible]. But how I wanted it yesterday [illegible] last night. I thought last night if I didn't get it I shouldn't ever be able to go home again and hold [illegible] head up. I thought I should be humiliated [illegible] into it."

"Very!" said Mr. Sutherland calmly. He was relieved. He saw [illegible] wrong and entirely silly he had been to imagine that [illegible] was going to be [illegible] all over with him when he reached the cupola. Lord Furber had at [illegible] done [illegible].

"Of course," the baron continued, "I know why ye wouldn't sell me Lallers. At first I think I know. Ye're going in for a combine or some sort, and Lallers'll be part of it." Mr. Sutherland at these words had a slight recurrence of apprehension. Was the millionaire [illegible] round? "You aren't so far out," Mr. Sutherland candidly admitted. "* * * It'll be a two million affair."

"Well," said the baron, "yesterday [illegible] I'd known that for sure I'd have suggested [illegible] take the whole affair off yer hands and I'd find all the capital and take all the risk and give ye a hundred thousand for yerself. That's what I'd ha' been [illegible] to do yesterday or even this morning, before we came up here." Lord Furber spoke sadly and courageously. He did not even glance at Septimus, but fixed his eyes in philosophical meditation upon the town of Tivoli glistening in the hills a dozen or more miles off. "And you don't want Lallers either, Sep," he added [illegible].

"Well," said Septimus, not to be behindhand in true wisdom. "If you [illegible] at it like that, I don't. Everything's only an [illegible]. I admit it."

He felt the stirring of an absurd impulse to relinquish Lallers and the [illegible] scheme to his crony. It seemed to him that if he did so he would [illegible] superior to his crony. And he [illegible] that [illegible] purer than that was an obscure motive of mere [illegible]. What a [illegible] is yours, my friend.

Then he stiffened suddenly. How clever the fellow had been [illegible] at the existence of his scheme for a combine! Yes, he was too clever. He was a necromancer, that was what he was. He was a fellow [illegible] beware of. Why should Septimus make him a present of anything at all? Besides, the fellow didn't want Lallers any more.

Lord Furber had been wearing his Homburg hat at the back of his head so as to hide the white patch over the wound. He now tipped the hat [illegible] over his brow, and de[illegible] [illegible] chin.

"[illegible] queer," he [illegible].

"[illegible] would notice it who [illegible]."

"I [illegible] nearly so much [illegible] * * * Of course he [illegible] I know [illegible] been [illegible] too rich to escape [illegible]. If I want anything [illegible] positively [illegible] it. And when any one [illegible] me from having it I think I've a genuine grievance against them. [illegible]?" He smiled half wistfully. "I should ha' liked Lallers. I [illegible] deceive myself. I should ha' liked to get it."

Enter Harriet

Then he gazed at Mr. Sutherland as if desiring to share with Mr. Sutherland the rich joke of a mutual [illegible] complicated [illegible].

Mr. Sutherland was [illegible] overcome. He knew he was about to be[illegible] like a grandiose [illegible] and that later he would regret his action. But [illegible] wish to fear himself [illegible] there in the skies on the [illegible] of St. Peter's [illegible] wonderful words. "See here, old man. Lallers is yours"—his wish was left to him. He could no more resist it.

"See here, old man," he started.

He was just plunging over the precipice when somebody walked round and faced them. And not an [illegible] celebrated American! Harriet Perkins herself! Mr. Sutherland felt—and with awe—that some divinity was shaping his rough-hewn ends.

Harriet wore the yachting costume, hat and all, but with a different pair of shoes. And she was as bright as the morning.

"Now you needn't look so startled, [illegible] two. I'm not startled to see you here. Why should you be startled to see me here? Everything is simplicity itself. I had to come to Rome on professional business. I knew you'd be staying at the Paradiso. It's one of the very worst hotels in Rome, but it's the place where all your sort of people go, and so of course you wouldn't be seen anywhere else. So I went to inquire [illegible] at the Paradiso. You'd gone out, but the [illegible] told us he'd heard you tell your chauffeur to go to St. Peter's. I felt sure you couldn't possibly come to St. Peter's without making the ascent of this Matterhorn of a dome. At least I knew that Ralph couldn't, and that Seppie would be forced to follow him—much against his will. I wanted to see you on urgent business, and here I am. I should have caught you at the hotel but I absolutely had to get a larger pair of shoes to match this costume. * * * Ralph, you must have [illegible] very good instructions to the dressmakers about my figure, but you went rather wrong on the size of my feet. They're larger than you imagined."

Not a trace of breathlessness in her after climbing half a thousand stairs; the girl was as fresh as though she had never left earth. This seemed wonderful to Mr. Sutherland who was still conscious that his heart was working under pressure. As he stood up and shook hands he was particularly conscious also of an [illegible] pleasure at the sight of her and he definitely decided that he could neither have Rome nor stand for his wife and family [illegible] in Rome. He felt both happy and wicked, a sensation than which there is perhaps no finer in human life.

"I think I'll sit here, you are, if I may," said Harriet persuasively to the baron, whose rose took her hand and pressed her into the seat.

"And what's yer business?" asked the baron. "Why have ye deserted yer post as housekeeper of my yacht?"

"Ah!" exclaimed Harriet with a teasing piquancy. "Wouldn't you like to know?" She examined the baron's face and concluded that his mind was far away on some matter of which she knew nothing. "But you must listen as if you were interested," she added. "Not that you won't be interested. You will."

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

TOMORROW will be Friday and after that it will be Saturday. I wish we were going [illegible] again. It was almost as warm as it could be when I [illegible] Jubilee down by his [illegible] this morning and when I went down and fixed the fires and went out and milked the dummed brutes and came in the house with the milk to strain it my mother was standing by the stove frying pancakes with the kitchen d[illegible] open.

When I had got sot down at my place and had speared me some pancakes and an egg and some bacon and my mother had gave me a glass of milk because she says coffee isn't good for a growing boy, my father asked me what I was going to do with my money and they all stopped eating, like they had all been thinking about it and he had been the only one that [illegible] say anything. I said, "What money?" he said, "Why the money you got for being an actor." "Oh I s[illegible] that's all gone. I haven't got [illegible] any more [illegible]." My father said, "Why [illegible]" and opened his mouth [illegible] while I was [illegible]

[illegible]

I told them then about [illegible] how the [illegible] flew and [illegible] know if that wasn't the [illegible] that I had the fight with on the stage and I said I had had fights with him off and on. Then I told about him bringing the county doctor and how we had taken all our money to pay the doctor and hired him to save [illegible] life. And my aunt said, "[illegible] you can have some more fights with the little rat." And I said, "I [illegible]. And he isn't a rat. He's as good as I am and if it wasn't for my trick [illegible] he might be better." Then my mother got up and came around where I was sitting and put her arms around my head and hugged me tight for a long time and then she said, "You are a noble little gentleman and you won't lose your money [illegible] if I have to scrimp and save [illegible] to you." Then they all [illegible] even my aunt [illegible] like the picture of the wolf [illegible] of Little Red Riding Hood. [illegible] father and uncle [illegible] and I carried [illegible] he says to [illegible] and my mother [illegible] didn't say anything.

After school we went to the top of the [illegible] hill from where we could throw pieces of [illegible] the pond [illegible] piece would go through [illegible] was fun. Then we went around past the doctor's but he wasn't in. Maybe he was at Polgreen's.

You'll notice it particularly in cakes and biscuits

Bake your next cake, or your next batch of biscuits, with Pillsbury's Best Flour. Notice how much better they taste. You'll find a delicate, unmistakably richer flavor—the sort of thing that's a puzzle to women who don't know the secret.

Pillsbury's Best Flour is milled from certain carefully selected, full-flavored types of wheat. It makes food taste better. You'll notice the improvement most in cakes and biscuits, because they are so delicate. But it's also true of bread and pastry—Pillsbury's Best gives better flavor to everything you bake!

Once in the clutches of RHEUMATISM
now the joy of the home

Why Rheumatism can't be rubbed out

THOSE muscular pains, commonly called rheumatism, are generally due to a "run-down" condition, with the number of red blood cells below the normal count.

S.S.S. aids the system in building up these red blood cells and in getting rid of the condition of which the rheumatism is but a symptom. The body becomes strong and disease resistant, and the rheumatic pains go.

Pains in your muscles and joints make you miserable, less efficient, interfere with your working hours, ruin your sleep. If allowed to continue, as the years pass the danger increases.

But what a change with rich, red blood-cells in your body—Nature's building material—making the flesh firm—giving strength to the vital organs.

You can't rub rheumatism out. It is deeper than that. It must be driven out. And the sure way is by helping the fighting blood—the red blood-cells!

Increase your army of "workers" (red blood cells), and those muscle and joint pains, commonly called rheumatism, vanish. S.S.S. has brought this change about for thousands. Why not for you?

Made from fresh vegetable drugs—

"I was very nervous, had hardly any appetite, and suffered with rheumatism. I tried many medicines, but S.S.S. is the one that did me the most good. I am now well and feel like a new man."—William Osborne, 2105 Sloan Street, Flint, Mich.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

S.S.S.

All good Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It's more economical.

City Library Books Have A Hard Life That Requires Care of Expert 'Doctors'

Careful Mending Keeps Volumes in Use Despite Rough Handling

Travels into Homes of All Classes; Could Reveal Tales of Unusual Interest

MODERN folks, who think the life [illegible] library book a dull and un[illegible] from the time it [illegible] when it is discarded for a brighter, newer one, will surely have a long way to travel before they find any other inanimate object whose life quite equals it in interesting and varied experiences. Books may look as though the days of their useful lives are not colorful, but you would really be surprised. If they could, inside of their hard mottled bindings, they would laugh at the very idea, inquiry at the public library in Marion has disclosed.

Library books surely do go places and see things. They are out and about more than half of the time, and it would be very surprising to know some of the things that they unconsciously witness. Verily, they "could a tale unfold."

Useful Service

And yet, after their useful life, when they are torn and worn and have lost their bright color and numerous pages and pictures, they are thrown away, never to be read again. It doesn't seem exactly right, but they would surely be the last ones to complain. Perhaps the brief rest after their strenuous life is appreciated.

Of course, there are a few dusty ones that never leave the shelves except for short intervals, when some studious person drags them down from the top for about five minutes' reference. These volumes are a part of the necessary property of any library, even if referred to but once a year. But the large majority of books travel hard and fast.

When they arrive at the library, bright and new, from the publishers, they are stripped of their bright jackets, are accessioned, classified, catalogued and listed. Then they start out on the first lap of their journey. After being handled and read by people from the high station of life, the student, and the lowly class, they return at the end of about the twentieth trip, ready to go to the repairing room.

Their bindings show signs of strain, perhaps several pages are out, and part of their nice new color is dimmed or marked with water. They are taken to the "hospital," repaired and returned to the hands of the librarian, to begin the same round of useful service. They stand the strain again for about 50 rounds of the city, and then comes the big breakdown. They are either sent to the bindery, if it is a book that is scarce or expensive, but if it is not worth the care, off it goes to the junk pile.

You'd be surprised at the haggard appearance that some of the volumes have after a short period of traveling about the city. They are torn by babies, chewed by puppies, and thrown about in such a way that they are sad looking wrecks indeed.

In one instance, books began coming in with pages of pictures cut out, and radio magazines seemed to have numerous pages and diagrams missing. It seems as though in case of the books which happened to contain pictures of old art and famous paintings by equally famous artists, that the reader had a leaning towards certain of these pictures, and having no better source, he gracefully and very tactfully cut out the picture that pleased his unstable desires.

Problem Hard to Solve

The parts cut out of the magazines probably are serving for references in hooking up a set, or some form of study. It seems a shame that expensive and scarce books should be mistreated in this way, but as no one is found responsible, the books are merely left to destroy or to serve personally as references.

The worn-out books that no one cares to read any more are torn up and sold to junk dealers for a means of making more paper. Usually there are about 500 books thrown away yearly at the City Library, but this year there were closer to 1,000 because of the inventory taken for the first time in several years. A constant weeding out process is carried on, making away with books that cannot be mended. Of course, the vacancies caused by this destruction of books are immediately filled by fresh new volumes.

Dull Bindings Passing Out

With the advent of the new books this season, color reigns high above the old idea that dull, unimpressionable bindings were best. But on the shelves of the library, one sees books with attractively mottled coverings taking place of the dull drab ones of former days. It is a decided improvement, as they will not show water spots so easily and often dirt is not nearly as noticeable.

Of all the hard wear the books get, there are at present [illegible] books in circulation, all of them in good condition to merit their being read and handled for at least one more round trip. And the borrowers of these useful objects amounted to about 6,707 the first of February, almost two books for every person owning a card. But the ratio holds out, because for every two new books added to the number, at least one person takes out a card.

"The best looking suit you've had on in years!"

You'll hear something like that many times a week in any Richman store.

Many wives come to Richman's to help their husbands choose new clothes — and we like to have them come. For a woman's judgment of style, materials and needlework is better than that of most men.

She doesn't judge Richman's Clothes by the price, but by what she sees — smart style and faultless fit, rich fabrics of long wearing pure wool yarns, tailoring without a flaw.

Knowing that Richman's Clothes provide these essentials to good dress, the economy of the Richman price becomes doubly attractive.

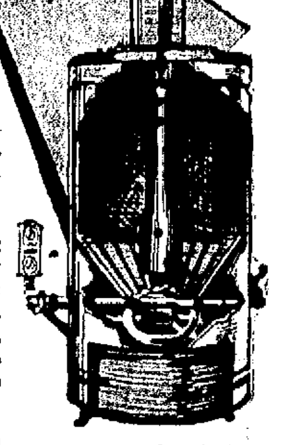
Let us demonstrate the efficiency and simplicity of the modern method of laundry drying—with a gas-heated dryer.

Why Spend An Entire Day In the Laundry?

YOU can save hours of every washday and, at the same time, make laundry tasks light, pleasant ones, by using a gas-heated laundry dryer. By keeping pace with the washer—drying one tub of clothes while another is being washed—the gas-heated dryer has the clothes ready for ironing without delay. Hours formerly spent in the laundry thus are saved for other household activities, for shopping, or for recreation.

Speed is just one of the many important advantages of using the gas-heated dryer. Any day can be washday when this dryer is used—for the entire laundry can be done in one place, without trips to the outdoors. Weather conditions can never interfere. There need be no worry about broken clothes lines, about rain, snow or sleet—no worry about soot or dirt soiling the clothes while drying—no lugging of heavy clothes baskets to and from the clothes line.

With this dryer in your home, you are sure that the clothes will be sterilized as they are thoroughly dried—and there will be no washings to do over because of bad weather or other handicaps of outdoor drying. You owe it to your health, comfort and convenience to see this gas-heated dryer at our display room. It costs less than a good washer.



The gas-fired incinerator can be installed quickly wherever there is a flue and gas connection.

Sanitation and Health

GUARDING these two essentials of happiness in the home is the gas-fired incinerator. It reduces garbage and rubbish to sterilized ash, eliminates the unsightly, germ-breeding garbage can and trash barrel and saves trips outdoors in bad weather. It is installed easily and conveniently in the basement.

Inspect it at our salesroom and note its sanitary, time-saving features.

Either of these two great conveniences— The Gas-Heated Laundry Dryer or the Gas-Fired Incinerator will be installed for Prosecuting Attorney Alfred [illegible] represented the commissioners in the litigation. Attorney [illegible] Wiedemann represented Ulsh. [illegible] property owners were represented by Attorneys W. P. Moloney and J. D. Williamson.

It is expected that the objectors will carry the case to the district court of appeals.

Decision Reversed

A $75 judgment in municipal court was reduced to $1 yesterday by a jury in common pleas court in the damage suit brought by John Watts against Zebedee Stout, proprietor of the Stout Used Car Co. The case was appealed to the common pleas court by Stout after Judge William R. Martin of the municipal court ruled against him.

The $1 verdict returned by the petit jury reverses the lower court and at the same time throws costs of the case on Watts. Attorney Carter Patton, of the law firm of Wiedemann, Patton & Wiedemann, represented Stout. Watts was represented by Attorney Louis E. Myers.

Watts charged in his petition that he purchased a used automobile from Stout in which the motor was of an older model than represented by the dealer.

SUIT OVER HORSE SALE IS SETTLED

Action Involving Alleged Balky Steed Ended in Local Court

A law suit resulting from the sale of an alleged balky horse was settled out of court this morning shortly before the case came up for hearing. The suit was brought by Charles M. Cookston against Walter Jones. According to the petition Cookston sold Jones a horse, represented to be docile and sound.

Jones claimed in his answer that the horse had a nasty disposition. He refused to pay the agreed price of $140. When Cookston refused to take the animal back Jones called a Columbus livestock commission house and ordered the horse sold. The commission house sold the horse for $42, took $2 for commission and sent Cookston the check for $40.

Cookston returned the check to the commission house and immediately brought suit against Jones.

By terms of the settlement today Jones is to pay Cookston $10 and he will attempt to get the commission house to rewrite the $40 check.

Cookston was represented by the law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant. The law firm of Carhart & Warner represented Jones.

Charles H. Singer has filed suit in common pleas court against May Singer and the Marion Building Savings & Loan Co. for partition of land. The plaintiff is represented by the law firm of Louis E. Myers.

FUGITIVES ELUDE POSSES IN HILLS

Authorities of Three States Search for Men Who Beat Jailer

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 21—Eluding the authorities of a score of counties in West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, four of the six prisoners who escaped from the Kanawha county jail here yesterday after brutally beating a jailer, still were at large today.

Posses late last night, captured Gerald Flemmer and Virgil Kemplin. The former was found in hiding here and the latter was discovered in Eastbank, across the river from here.

Heavily-armed forces of county and city authorities combed the hill regions today in search of Adren and Dave Bias, brothers, of Huntington, W. Va., Julian Liebel of Charleston, and W. R. Proctor, who was being held for Raleigh, N. C., authorities on charges of robbery.

The six prisoners gained their freedom yesterday when they slugged a jailer, obtained the keys to the jail door and commandeered an automobile which was passing in front of the jail when they reached the street.

The automobile was found abandoned near Gallipolis, O., and a second machine, believed to have been stolen in Gallipolis, was found wrecked at the foot of a steep embankment on the outskirts of Athens, O. The prisoners are believed to have obtained a third automobile and headed for Huntington, W. Va., returning over a trail which took them back and forth into Ohio and West Virginia. The fugitives are thought to have remained in Huntington long enough to have secured food and then to have doubled back in the direction of eastern Kentucky, taking the back mountain roads.

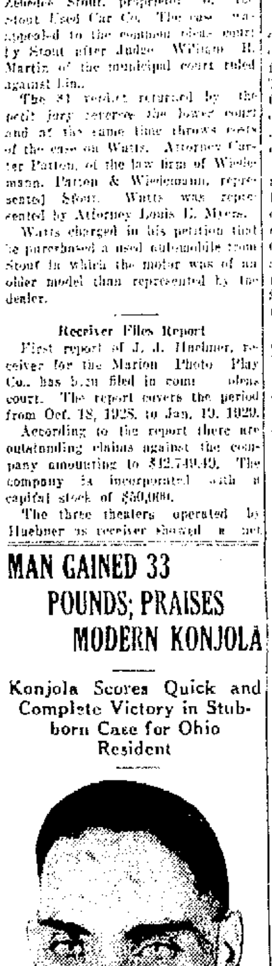
Konjola Scores Quick and Complete Victory in Stubborn Case for Ohio Resident



MR. ALBERT DILLEY

"Despite the many splendid indorsements of Konjola, I certainly was not prepared for the huge surprise it gave me by restoring my health after years of suffering," said Mr. Albert Dilley, P. O. Box 12, Washington Court House, Ohio.

"For ten years I was the victim of a most distressing and stubborn case of indigestion. Once I was unable to work for three weeks and two days. When I did work it was under great disadvantage and with pain, for I was really too weak to be on the job. I became greatly discouraged, for when one has hunted for relief for ten years and found none, there seemed to be little hope of ever being better.

"In the four months following my use of Konjola, I gained thirty-three pounds. I have not missed a day's work since I started the treatment, and by the time I finished four bottles my indigestion was absolutely relieved. I want to tell of this splendid success of Konjola so that others will know there is such a remedy within their reach. To me Konjola is a priceless medicine."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and [illegible] healthy action. INSTALL NEON SIGN AT NEW STORE HERE

Second of Kind in City To Mark Kleinmaier Co. Location

Reaching from the top of the first floor to the top of the third floor a new Neon sign [illegible] by the Kleinmaier Co. [illegible] location on South Main street, [illegible] is one of the most attractive electric signs in the city.

The Neon sign is one of the latest [illegible] in the style of night [illegible] The sign works on the principle of electricity going through gas at a very high voltage, thus creating a [illegible] light, which is one of the brightest known to modern science. The light penetrates the densest atmosphere even a fog. The Neon sign was invented by a Frenchman, Claude Neon, a number of years ago, but did not reach its popularity in this country until just a short time ago.

Pirex glass is used to construct the delicate tubes that hold the Neon gas. They are very fragile and quite a number were broken while installing the sign for the local company. The Kleinmaier sign is 22 and a half feet high with the letters being 14 inches in heighth. The first letter is 18 inches high. The decorations on the sign are red and green and the word "Clothes" at the bottom of the sign is made of opalite, an opaque glass.

Kleinmaiers purchased the sign from a Cleveland advertising firm and it was brought here on a truck and installed yesterday.

It is the second large Neon sign installed in the city, the first being the one at Hotel Harding.

TWO ENTERTAINERS ON CLUB PROGRAM

Miss Vera Beth Stephens and Peggy Eames Guests of Kiwanians

Members of the Marion Kiwanis club were entertained today noon at their regular noonday luncheon meeting at the Marion club by Miss Vera Beth Stephens, of Chicago, who offered several comedy and dramatic readings.

Miss Stephens is a well-known elocutionist and is in the city to give an entertainment tonight at the Masonic temple.

Beside Miss Stephens' readings, club members had the pleasure of listening to little Miss Peggy Eames of "Our Gang" comedy fame. Miss Eames told several interesting experiences while making pictures in Hollywood and ended her talk with a reading.

$106 CLEARED

Report Given on Community Club "Penny Fair"

More than $106 was cleared by the Mark Street Community club at a "penny fair," given Tuesday night at the school building, according to a report issued today.

A penny supper was served from 6 to 8 o'clock, followed by a program which opened with a violin solo, "American First and Last," by Stanley Thomas, accompanied at the piano by Miss Maryetta Thomas. A recitation, "Like Washington," was given by Ernest Dearth. Elmer Bondley, well known as an entertainer in the city, gave a novelty musical program. Ruby Price as a rag doll, John Levein, an Indian chief, Eileen Caldwell, a French doll and Robert Longacre, a tin soldier, all members of the fourth grade, gave a playlet, "Dance of the Dolls." The playlet was directed by Miss Gladys Edelman, with musical accompaniment by Miss Estella Myers.

Entertainment for the guests was found in the menagerie, fortune telling booth, pop corn, bazaar, baloons, candy, ice cream cones and other carnival features.

A regular meeting of the club will be held Tuesday afternoon at the school building.

WEATHER HAS EFFECT ON BANK CLEARINGS

Bad weather and the absence of any paydays have caused bank clearings to fall off every day this week, according to clearing house officials at the Fahey Banking Co.

Clearings for Wednesday, Feb. 20, amounted to $61,842.56, a decrease of $83,772.81 under the clearings for the same day of the preceding week when they amounted to $145,615.37.

HOOVER TO "AFFIRM" SUPPORT OF LAWS

Quaker Belief of President-Elect Eliminates "Swearing" to Oath

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Although he has taken no one into his confidence, the understanding prevails in the capitol that when Herbert Hoover takes the oath of office as president he will "affirm" rather than "swear" his intention of supporting the Constitution.

"Quakers don't "swear." They "affirm." Mr. Hoover is a Quaker.

Authorities differ as to whether there has ever been a president who didn't "swear" to perform his constitutional duties.

There never has been a Quaker president, but some records maintain that Franklin Pierce, the fourteenth president, used "affirm" in taking the oath in 1853 because of a deep-seated aversion to "swearing." Other records state that Pierce used "swear."

PRISON EMPTY

Cold Weather Slows Up Police Business, Officers Report

BUSINESS was exceedingly quiet this morning at police headquarters.

For the second time in the last eight weeks the city jail was void of inmates.

Police blame the weather for the lull in business, saying that the usual bunch of "whoopee makers" were kept in last night due to the cold weather.

The jail was given a complete renovating this morning by those in charge, making ready for the rush, which they say, usually follows a quiet spell.

CLASS MEETS

PROSPECT, Feb. 21—The Freeman Bible class of the Methodist church, held its monthly meeting Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Graham. A "pot luck" supper was enjoyed. A short program was enjoyed. "America the Beautiful," and "America" were sung, after which games, contests and a social hour completed the program. The house was decorated in keeping with Washington's birthday.

MRS. LODGE DIES

No Arrangements Made By Husband for Spiritual Communication

LONDON, Feb. 21—Sir Oliver Lodge, famous scientist and spiritualist, [illegible] wife died yesterday, told [illegible] News Service today that he had not made any arrangements to try to communicate with [illegible] in the after world.

"[illegible] I did not make any arrangements with my wife to communicate with her after death I am sure she will do something to speak to me again," said Sir Oliver. "She shared my belief in spiritualism and I am certain she will try to break down the barriers between this world and the one beyond, as my son did."

GIVE PROGRAM

Pupils of Glenwood School Entertain at Club Meeting.

The program of the Glenwood school music club opened yesterday afternoon at the school with an exercise by four boys from the first grade. This was followed by another exercise, in which 15 pupils from the second grade took part.

A playlet, "John's Friends," and a song, "The Tin Pan Parade," was presented by pupils of the third grade. Six pupils of the fourth grade entertained with a song, and Rose Evans, a sixth grade pupil, gave a reading. A piano solo, "Who Was George Washington?" was presented by Mildred Wade, a fifth grade pupil. Five recitations, "My Hatchet," by Anthony Evans, a sixth grade pupil, "My Captain," by Oliver Rowly, also a sixth grade student, "Good Old Times," by Emerson Carr, member of the seventh grade, a selection by Bonnie Lawrence, a seventh grade pupil, and "Modern Height," by Robert Eddy, also a seventh grader, were enjoyed by the members. The program closed with a song by the seventh grade. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. W. E. Sullivan resigned as president of the club.

The next meeting will be March 20.

PASSES 38TH DAY

Conrad Continues His Fast Despite Loss of 60 Pounds

NEW HAMPSHIRE, Feb. 21—Fred Conrad today completed the thirty-eighth day of his "devil fast" to "drive the devil out of his father." George Conrad, apparently, unshaken, despite his loss of 60 pounds.

Young Conrad's father denied today that he had joined the church, or intended such an action, when told of published stories that he had capitulated and become a Methodist so that his son would resume his normal eating.

The young faster has also declared that he had never told anyone when he would stop the fast, and again repeated that he would do so only when the "Holy Ghost" moved him to eat.

ENTERTAIN GRANGE

MEEKER, Feb. 21—Members of the Community grange were guests at the annual oyster supper at which members of Tymochtee grange were hosts Saturday night at the grange hall. A program included musical numbers, readings and a play. About 60 members and guests were in attendance.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any [illegible] and four ounces is all [illegible] will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

"Every Old Timer knows that the HEART-LEAVES make the smoothest smoke"

[NO. [illegible] OF A SERIES As told by Tobacco Planters of the Sunny South]

"Round here in the foothills of the Blue Ridge we've been raisin' tobacco since my grandpap was a boy. We grow the makin's for all the leading cigarettes.

"Well, Suh, a few years ago an OLD GOLD man came through here and said 'I don't want any of your sleazy ground-leaves. I don't want any of your gummy top leaves. I only want to buy your heart-leaves. And I'll pay the price.'

"Now every old-timer, down in his heart, knows that the top and bottom leaves may bite the throat. And he knows that the heart leaves make the smoothest smoke.

"But when the OLD GOLD people demanded the heart leaves, that was something new in these diggin's. That's how OLD GOLD became the throat-easy cigarette . . . that's where 'not a cough in a carload' came from."

Winning the contest meant a [illegible] months contract at $150 a week with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer [illegible] Co and expenses paid to the [illegible] of Dream [illegible] Hollywood. A [illegible] contract with M G M is sought after by both young and old in the motion picture world.

After being welcomed at the Hollywood [illegible] by a party of stars from the studio including Sally O'Neil Peggy began her career before the camera. For two years she was baby star with M G M and at the end of that time went over to the Hal Roach Studio where she made Our Gang pictures for about 18 months playing the vamp roles.

Every one in Hollywood actress actor or nonprofessional has a preference for other stars in the city and Peggy's favorite of all the city is Charles Ray with whom she made her first picture. She worked with him later in The Fire Brigade.

Retains Unaffected Charm of Childhood Despite Rise to Fame

Peggy also had a part in Von Stroheim's 150 reel "The Wedding March." When the picture was [illegible] was [illegible] all that was [illegible] Peggy [illegible] picture [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] her [illegible]

Prefers Gingham

Peggy who might dress in silks satins and furs wears [illegible] gingham dresses most of the time. Of course her wardrobe contains several fancy party dresses but they are very much in the minority.

The dress she wore when interviewed was one which she has worn in an Our Gang comedy. Working in these comedies meant two weeks of shooting scenes and two weeks of rest. A regular school is conducted on the lot and if Peggy were to go to a public school she would be in the fifth grade.

After finishing her personal tour Peggy will return to Hollywood where a fat contract for 20 comedy pictures is awaiting her. The contract opens at Christmas time and its expiration will probably be in two or three years from that time. When this period is up Peggy will have passed the awkward stage which proves the waterloo of so many child stars and she will be ready for young flapper roles.

You see Peggy has arranged her work and her contracts so that she will never for a moment be out of the public eye and the work she loves—acting.

Washington returning from a perilous journey through the wilderness

George Washington's Life

Was a Romance of Preparation

HIS self-education and early trials gave him the confidence and resourcefulness that made him a good surveyor. As surveyor the hardships and dangers of the wilderness prepared him for service in the French and Indian War. The experiences of this war helped to fit him for the tremendous responsibilities that were his during the Revolutionary War. Political and military experiences of the Revolution prepared him for his exacting duties as the First President.

Preparation counts for much in every life and a growing reserve fund provides one of the best preparations. Your fund if deposited here is safely guarded and earns interest—two good aids in the preparation for financial success.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and [illegible] the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes here is a home-made medicine far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without it once you have used it. Keeps perfectly and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and flu coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine containing the active agent of creosote in a refined palatable form and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Kenton Man Escapes Injury When Train Hits Car

KENTON Feb 21—Jumping from his [illegible] a second before a Big Four freight train crashed into and demolished [illegible] at the Franklin st grade crossing Wednesday Theodore Kahler [illegible] east of Kenton escaped injury.

The car was reduced to splinters, wreckage [illegible] of the debris were hurled against the ticket office room of the Big Four passenger station short distance away shattering the glass and partially wrecking the structure. No one was in the ticket office at the time.

According to Kahler he was unable to stop at the crossing when he sighted the freight and then gave the car the gas in an attempt to speed on over the crossing. The engine stalled and the auto came to a halt on the track. He clambered out and had just gotten into the clear when the crash came.

Cooperative Marketing in Marion County Making Big Gains, Report Shows

62 Per Cent Increase Registered in Business of County Livestock Association Last Year, Members Are Informed at Annual Meeting; Directors Elected

Gains in practically all lines of its work were shown in the annual report of the Marion County Livestock Cooperative association, submitted at the annual meeting Tuesday night in Schwinger's hall on North Prospect st. Leland Sour, manager of the county association, who gave the report, stated that the volume of business for 1928 showed a gain of 62 per cent over the previous year.

The number of individual shippers increased 2015 per cent in 1928 over the number of shippers in 1927 in this county. The gross amount of business done by the Marion County association in 1928 reached $181,000, one of the heaviest years in history. During the past year the county association placed 200 feeder cattle and 500 feeder lambs in the county through the Eastern States company, one of the largest buying agencies in the country.

1929 Prospects Bright

Sour in concluding his financial report of the year said that prospects for 1929 are much brighter than those that confronted the association at the start of 1928.

"If everything goes right and the business we are now doing keeps up, 1929 should make history in the records of cooperative marketing," Mr. Sour stated.

A few of the advancements made in the past year were the installing of a new trucking system throughout the county, and the employing of two men on full time in the county as sub-managers. The new trucking system enables the individual shipping farmer to ship his cattle at a much lower cost than in the past few years.

The main address of the meeting Tuesday was given by Arthur F. Potter, manager of the Cleveland Producers, who talked on shipping and cooperative marketing throughout the country. During his talk Mr. Potter said that the only manner in which farm relief in the country today can be gained is through the work of the individual farmer himself, and the only way he can help himself is to take part in the cooperative shipping and marketing program as outlined and practiced by the Ohio Livestock Cooperative association.

Local Men Speak

Mr. Potter did not dwell at any time on the work of the local association but confined his talk to a general discussion of cooperative marketing. Following his address short talks were given by members of the county association. L. B. Fidler, Smith-Hughes representative in this territory, gave a short talk on "What could be done for cooperative marketing in an educational way." H. H. Beringer, member of the board of directors, told of cooperative marketing from the standpoint of the farmer.

The same board of directors that served last year was reelected, with the exception of Frank Mayer, who replaces F. D. Isler, who was killed yesterday morning while at work on his farm near Prospect. Mr. Isler had been an active member of the association since its founding and had served on the board of directors for a number of terms. Those reelected to the board are: Ray Gatewood, Carl Haberman, Lowell Ulsh, Charles Letter, H. H. Beringer, Foster Davidson, and J. E. Beers. The directors will meet in the second week of March to elect officers for the year.

J. E. Miller, of Caledonia, sub-manager of the Caledonia branch of the county association, was named a delegate to the state convention to be held in Columbus in the near future.

About 65 attended the meeting, which was preceded by the annual banquet, held at 7 o'clock at Schwinger's hall.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ARCHITECTS GATHER DATA FOR SCHOOLS

Officials Hope To Receive Bids on Buildings Some Time in April

Four representatives of the firm of Garber & Woodard, architects for city school building program now under way, are in the city collecting data for completing working drawings and specifications for additions to four city grade school buildings. C. W. Woodard and three others are doing the work preparatory to completing the plans for the structures.

Architects and school officials are handicapped in their work due to the fact that there are no blue prints available for many of the grade school buildings. This makes it necessary to take measurements before plans for additions can be completed.

George Bowman, superintendent of schools, stated today that school officials hope to be able to advertise bids on the additions some time in April. It is thought that by that time final plans will be worked out and drawings made for the additions.

Until final plans for the additions to the Mark st., Pearl st., Glenwood and North Main st., buildings are completed nothing will be done on plans for the new junior high school in Oakland heights and the new grade buildings on Indiana av.

Tentative plans for the Glenwood and North Main st. additions have been approved by the board of education. Superintendent Bowman stated today that tentative plans for the other addition were about ready to be submitted to the board for approval.

School officials hope to have the four grade school additions ready for use when school opens next fall.

Prospect Couple Observe Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

PROSPECT, Feb. 21 — Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Zieg, of near Green Camp, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday instead of Wednesday, Feb. 20, with their three daughters and families and a few near friends as guests. The date of holding the celebration was changed on account of the illness of Mrs. Zieg.

Mr. and Mrs. Zieg were married Feb. 20, 1879 by Rev. Philip Ruhl, pastor of the Reformed church of Prospect. Mrs. Zieg before her marriage was Miss Louise Reichardt, of Green Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Zieg have lived on the farm where they now reside for 19 years.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William D. Carr and son, Charles, of Prospect; Mr. and Mrs. Harley DeLong and sons, Victor and Tray, Mr. and Mrs. Cass Harper and son, Marvin, of near Green Camp; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Laucher of Prospect; Miss Wilda Reichardt, of Green Camp. The rooms were decorated in gold and white.

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.
